Continuation of 13. Other: While the claim language states for claim 1 of "checking for errors in the data packet in a received time slot if the received power is greater than the first threshold", Examiner respectfully believes that the claim language as argued in the Remarks dated 5/11/05 alleged that a mobile station checks an error of a data packet only (emphasis on "only") when a received C/I is higher is not recited in the claim language as previously argued. Furthermore, Applicant continues to argue that "determining if data is decoded according to the measurement of the signal clearly refers to "a received C/I of a forward pilot signal". Examiner respectfully disagrees since in receiving a C/I signal, a determination if data is decoded is not necessary. Receiving a C/I of a forward pilot signal simply means a mobile station receives C/I of the forward link pilot from the base station. In addition, Applicant provides additional arguments, which do not render the claims allowable after the prosecution on the merit is closed.
